Industrial Relations and Trade Unionism in a Globalising Economy

September 25-28, 2017

Context

Of the different implications of the current phase of globalisation, those pertaining to industrial relations and trade unionism assume paramount importance. The industrial relations framework is becoming increasingly decentralized. Rapid flow of technology is considerably altering production structures and work organization. Trade unions are facing complex challenges especially in the context of withdrawal of state from economic activities and introduction of flexible labour practices. New and innovative strategies are being considered to evolve harmonious industrial relations at the firm and the industry level.

It is important that industrial relations managers and trade union leaders have a clear understanding on the nature and characteristics of the emerging industrial relations framework in a globalising economy. Accelerated pace of transformation in the world of work also demand that the social patterns enhance their leadership and motivational skills to influence different constituents to respond to the challenges of change.

It is in this context, that the V.V. Giri National Labour Institute is organizing a Training Programme on Industrial Relations and Trade Unionism in a Globalising Economy.
